

LJ (Lynette) Rosen

LJ (Lynette) Rosen lives and works in San Diego, California. She is a natural and self-taught artist. She came to enameling through attending courses taught by Pat Aiken at the San Diego Community College. Originally she was looking to learn another technique she could utilize to enhance her glasswork and found another medium in which she loves to work. In addition to her classes in enameling with Pat Aiken she has taken seminars and workshops with a variety of other enamel artists including Harlan Butt and Dorothy Stephenson.

LJ is a multi-disciplinary artist in that she also sculpts, paints and does glass work. She recently did a workshop while in New Mexico with the renowned Native American artist Roxanne Swentzell and attended a glass casting workshop at the Bullseye studios.

LJ is known as an experimentalist in that she loves to learn what the given technique is for making an object and then she loves to push it to the limits and see what results. Many times beautiful and exquisite works emerge. And sometimes, they end up in the toss pit. She also likes to combine disciplines in a single work.

Her work has been acquired by collectors from all over the world and as a result is represented in many states in America and in over 10 countries internationally. LJ also teaches private lessons in art from her studio.

Memberships/Accomplishments:

Enamelist Society
Emerging Artist Award 2011
International Sculpture Society
Board member San Diego Enamel Guild 2013-2014
Grains of Glass
Vice President SDEG 2014
Glass Artists.org
Newsletter Editor SDEG 2012-2014
Associate Member Spanish Village
Webmaster SDEG 2015 - 2017
Artists for a Better World
International Organization of Self Representing Artists in Jewelry Design
Manufacturing Jewelers & Suppliers of America
Mingei Museum
Bead Society of San Diego
San Diego Enamel Guild

Her work can be found online:
at her website, www.ljrosen.com
Grains of Glass
Etsy
Artists' Mall

CONTACT: 619-206-9595

ljrosen.hall@gmail.com; her blog is at <https://ljrosen.wordpress.com> www.ljrosen.com